

A deep dive into the PhD - and what comes next?

4th March
14:00 to 15:00 Irish time

Join us online during Ireland's' Engineers Week!

This online event will give a brief introduction to some ongoing research of PhD students in UCD Energy Institute, followed by a panel discussion featuring former PhD students who are now applying their skills to different roles. This session will provide insights into some of the key skills, motivations, and challenges associated with doing a PhD in the area of energy and bringing this expertise to life after a PhD. If you have ever googled 'is a PhD in the energy domain worth it' this is the event for you!
